Dear Collector,

This selection of some hundred models features nearly fifty brand new releases, and introduces some new themes to the Corgi range. These include a nostalgic tinplate model of a Routemaster bus which takes us way back to our origins in the 1930s, and the Skirmish range, which combines wartime models and hand-painted metal figures of servicemen matched to 1:50 scale. The Road Scene range introduces a new 1:76 scale series of trucks to complement 'OO' gauge model railway layouts. There is a veritable fleet of new 1:50 scale Road Transport models, and the Forward March series of white metal, hand-painted figures continues the history of these islands in time of war, from the 19th Century to the present day.

For the very young collector, we bring the first models of Fifi and the Flowertots as seen on Channel 5's Milkshake! Slot daily at 8 am. And for the enthusiast of military aircraft, there are three new Warbirds, iconic aircraft of World War Two and their pilots. Last but not least, I would also draw your attention to the four-piece Trackside set in the livery of the Royal Mail, which represents exceptional value for money.

I trust there will be something here you will want to add to your own collection.

The last AEC Routemaster - London Transport

This 1:50 scale replica models the last standard length Routemaster built in 1965 by AEC at Southall, and with bodywork by Park Royal. It was also the very last Routemaster in ordinary service with London Transport. In between it plied its way along route 159 (between Marble Arch and Streattham, and was used to promote Harry Potter films as a specially decorated 3-deck bus. Presented in special 'Last Routemaster' packaging, the model is issued as a Limited Edition.

LAST ROUTEMASTER

If there is a single unforgettable icon in the history of public road transport, it must be the AEC Routemaster. As symbolic of London as Nelson's Column or the Tower of London, the Routemaster served the London (and visitor) public for over 50 years, until the 9th December 2005, when the very last ordinary Routemaster service ran the very last run on route 159. This 1:50 scale replica reproduces RM 2217, the vehicle which took that final bow across the streets of London on that day.

Collectables | Original Omnibus - OUR RANGE OF THE MONTH!

Three splendid 21st Century originals are reproduced in this selection of 1:76 scale Original Omnibus buses and coaches, including the newly tooled Plaxton Paragon. The other newcomer (from existing tooling) is an East Lancs. Lolyne. Each model faithfully copies the lines, the colours and the liveries of the original vehicles, and replicates an actual vehicle which is more fully described in the information that accompanies the model itself.

NEW LIMITED EDITION 2,010 models NEW TOOLING

Plaxton Paragon - Felix Coaches ↻

This Paragon will almost certainly be snapped up by Plaxton collectors, of whom there are more thousands than there are models in this Edition, so get your order in without delay. Features include the distinctive high back passenger seating, detailed driver's cab, fine detail rear view mirrors and wipers, and the eye-catching livery of the Ilkeston coach operator.

Ref: OM46101 £25.99 Scale 1:76 Approx. length 160mm

Roe Trolleybus - Derby Corporation ↻

Fleet No. 237 was one of a batch of eight delivered by Charles H. Roe Ltd to Derby Corporation in early 1960, the last of the traditional open platform style of trolleybus. She could carry up to 65 passengers in quiet, fume-free style, and is reproduced here to exact 1:76 scale, with a detailed interior, separately produced trolley pole, and with accurate period Derby livery and badging.

What's in a name?: the ELCB Mylennium

The Mylennium was East Lancashire Coachbuilders' double-decker version of the single-decker Spryte. It was built on a range of chassis, each version of which had a distinctive name. The Lolyne was built on a Dennis/TransBus Trident 2; the Lowlander on a DAF/VDL DB250; the Vyking on a Volvo B7TL.

Even in its name the Mylennium carried on a long tradition of East Lancashire Coachbuilders: that of 'misspelt' names.

Collectables | Road Transport

Some recent issues in Corgi's flagship range of 1:50 scale Road Transport models are still available in very limited numbers, so this may well be your last chance to secure one or more for your own collection. They are joined by a brand new Scania R Series tanker in the colours of Shirley's, the Stoke-on-Trent hauliers specialising in tanker services to the breweries.

NEW LIMITED EDITION
2,210 models

Scania R Series Tanker - Shirley's Transport Ltd

Founded as long ago as 1936, Shirley's must be one of the longest-operating hauliers in Britain. Originally carrying agricultural products, during the 1950s Shirley's moved into working for the breweries in Burton-on-Trent. Tanker work is the mainstay of the company's business, a fact reflected in this gleaming new replica of a Scania R Series tanker.

Forward March consists of a range of 1:32 scale hand-painted, white metal figures grouped by specific themes, from Civilians at War to Great Leaders, from the Battle of Trafalgar to the Battles of the Somme and El Alamein. The series also includes a number of dioramas, each of which comes with a free miniature replica Campaign Medal.

British Army Tank Crew Dismounted - Battle of El Alamein
The Matilda II tank was heavily armoured and carried a shell-firing gun. In the desert it was outclassed by the German artillery with their 88mm gun, and fought its last action at El Alamein in 1942.

Royal Navy Boarding Party - Battle of Trafalgar

It was superior naval tactics; it was the genius of Nelson. But what was equally significant at Trafalgar, and commemorated in this diorama, was the determination of the British in fighting at close quarter, with the ships locked together, and which finally carried the day.

The Fall of Nelson - Battle of Trafalgar
In the hour of his greatest victory, a single sniper aloft in the mizzen mast of the French Redoubtable spotted an obvious target. Striding the 21 feet of his quarterdeck aboard the Victory, Nelson was wearing all four of his orders of Knighthood; even a French sniper knew who that must be. The rest is history.

Did You Know?

The origins of the Royal Mail go back as far as 1516, when Henry VIII appointed a Master of the Posts to maintain a regular service on the main roads from London.

The Post Office was established under Cromwell in 1657, and mail coaches commenced services in 1784. The Penny Black stamp came out in 1840, post boxes appeared in 1855, postcards in 1870 and postal orders in 1881.

↻ Royal Mail 4-Piece Set

For some time Trackside collectors have been asking for sets grouped by specific theme. So here is the first in a series, each in meticulously researched livery. We kick off with a series of four in the Royal Mail Set. The set consists of the Morris LD, Morris 1000, Bedford HA and Ford Anglia Vans.

Vanguards Classics reproduces to exact 1:43 scale British saloon and sports cars of the post-war period. All the main marques are represented, from BMC to Land Rover, from Jaguar to Vauxhall. Each model is faithful to the original, from body shape to paint colours. And one of the most enduring themes remains that of Police vehicles, each of which faithfully reproduces a real livery from a specific Force.

LIMITED EDITION

Vauxhall Astra - Greater Manchester Police

The Vauxhall Astra has been the standard issue section car of Greater Manchester Police for some years. Features include working suspension, detailed interior, wheels, hubs and tyres, and even the distinctive blue roof livery to aid aerial recognition, a key aspect of today's integrated police operations.

Ref: VA09406 £14.99 Scale 1:43 Approx. length 97mm

Range Rover - Metropolitan Police Special Escort Group

The SEG is a specialist division which escorts sensitive vehicles – anything from prison vans carrying Category A prisoners to extremely high value loads. Our Limited Edition comes with a Collector's Card which details the specification and history of the vehicle.

Ford Cortina GT MkI - Roger Clark & Jim Porter

This 1:43 scale replica reproduces 2ANR, the very car as it was when Roger Clark and his regular co-driver Jim Porter drove her to win the 1965 Scottish Rally – and then went on to win the Gulf London three weeks later in the same car. Features of the model include detailed wheels, hubs and tyres, photo-etched chrome parts and period livery.

Motorsport

2ANR: a rally legend

2ANR, the Ford Cortina GT MkI featured here, was originally a white vehicle prepared by Roger Clark at his family's Ford dealership. After Roger had won the Scottish Rally in 1964, the standard white body shell was falling apart, and was replaced by a full-scale 'works' body shell in red. As it was rebuilt using sufficient body parts from the original, the registration 2ANR could be retained. And it was in this guise that Roger Clark and his co-driver Jim Porter took the honours in the 1965 Scottish Rally.

Ford 100E - Ed Glaister

The Top Hat race series for historic cars was introduced in 1999, and Ed Glaister's Ford Popular 100E was one of the earliest entrants. The car is now a front-runner in the Top Hat Racing Oldies But Goldies series for pre-1960 touring cars. We'd also tip it as an absolute winner in the 1:43 scale collector stakes.

Collectables | Warbirds | Predators

The Corgi Predators range adds a new dimension to the Aviation Archive. It focuses on just six of the most iconic aircraft in military history, and covers three specific themes: Ace Pilots, Defining Missions and Ultimate Squadrons. Each model comes with a booklet detailing the story behind the original aircraft, its pilot or its mission, and is accompanied by extensive technical data about the aircraft. And Warbirds continues to capture the most iconic aircraft featuring the most colourful personalities of WWII in the air.

P-51 Mustang III - Sqd. Leader Eugeniusz Horbaczewski

The first fighter which possessed the range to escort heavy bombers all the way to and from daylight raids over German cities, fighter ace Horbaczewski took command of Polish No. 315 Squadron in 1944.

Ref: WB99602 £9.99

Scale 1:72 Wingspan 155mm

Focke Wulf FW 190 A-5 - JG1, Luftwaffe

Flown by ace Major Hermann Graf, this FW 190 A-5 was based in 1943 at Bordeaux, attached to Jgr Ost, JG1. The Focke Wulf was Germany's most potent piston-powered fighter of the War, and was faster, with a faster roll rate, than any Allied equivalent.

Ref: WB99619 £9.99

Scale 1:72 Wingspan 145mm

Supermarine Spitfire MkVa - RAF, Tangmere Wing, 1941

Wing Commander Douglas Bader's Mk.Va Spitfire follows on from his Mk.I featured in the first series of Warbirds.

This model replicates the aircraft as it was when based with 11 Group in August 1941.

Ref: WB99617 £9.99

Scale 1:72 Wingspan 156mm

Kittyhawk MkIV - 75 Squadron, Royal Australian Air Force, 1945

Piloted by Squadron Leader Clive Tolhurst of the Royal Australian Air Force, the original of this replica, a Kittyhawk designated GA-G, was based in 1945 on the island of Morotai, south of the Philippines, as World War II drew to a conclusion.

Ref: WB99615 £9.99

Scale 1:72 Wingspan 155mm

Grumman Avenger TBF-1C - USS San Jacinto, US Navy, 1944

The first TBF Avenger carrier-based torpedo bomber was delivered to the US Navy in January 1942. It soon established a reputation as an excellent aircraft, though the necessarily slow, low-level attack paths resulted in high casualty rates among torpedo bombing crews.

The original of our replica was piloted by none other than George H.W. Bush, based on the carrier USS San Jacinto.

Ref: PR99403 £19.99

Scale 1:72

Wingspan 230mm

Grumman Hellcat F6F-5 - USS Essex, US Navy, 1944

A significant step forward in carrier aviation, the Hellcat went to war in August 1943, and in the following two years accounted for 75% of the US Navy's air-to-air kills. This replica is modelled on the Hellcat MINSI III piloted by David McCampbell, flying from the carrier USS Essex in 1944.

Ref: PR99402 £19.99 Scale 1:72

Lockheed F104C Starfighter - 479th TFW, USAF, California 1964

One of the icons of the Cold War, the Starfighter served at the forefront of NATO defensive aircraft. It was also a most remarkable performer, and on the 14th December 1959, Captain J.B. Jordan took an F104C to a height of 31,513 metres (that's 103,389 feet), thoroughly demolishing the world altitude record set only 8 days earlier.

The Aviation Archive is Corgi's historically accurate record of the history of powered flight, featuring both civil and military aircraft. This quartet includes a new Westland Lysander Mk.I. Also featured here is the new Skirmish range, which combines models and hand-painted metal figures at 1:50 scale, ideal for 54mm Wargamers.

Fairey Swordfish Mk.II - Fleet Air Arm, 816 NAF, 1944 ↻
 Nicknamed 'Stringbag' because of its wires and bracing, the Swordfish was an anachronism at the outbreak of WWII - but was to prove her worth a thousand times over as a sea-borne strike aircraft. This replica includes fully detailed rigging and authentic folding wings!

Scale 1:50
Approx. length 150mm

↻ Panther Ausf.G Tank & 3 German Infantry Figures - Wehrmacht, Ardennes, 1944 ↻
 This model reproduces a fearsome PzKpfw V 5-man heavy tank as employed in the German counter-offensive immortalised as the Battle of the Bulge, which cost the allies more than 70,000 casualties. It was a highly successful engine of war, with a 75mm gun that could pierce 120mm of armour from 1,000 yards.
Ref: CC60213 £24.99 Scale 1:50 Approx. length 130mm

↻ M16 Quad .50 Half-track & 3 Figures - US Army, France 1944
 The half-track was used primarily as mechanised support for armoured divisions. Our replica is based on a vehicle which served in the invasion of southern France in August 1944. The model is accompanied by three hand-painted white metal figures of US infantrymen.

Collectables | Mettoy

It's back to our roots with this 1:36 scale tinplate Limited Edition of a Routemaster. The original Mettoy company founded in 1934 produced their first models in tinplate, and it is to this era the new Mettoy (derived from Metal Toys) series will re-visit, complete with clockwork drive mechanisms and working features.

1:36 scale Tinplate Routemaster - London Transport

This 1:36 scale replica of a Routemaster is another 'first' for Corgi in the 21st Century – even though it harks back to the 1930s in its material and construction.

For this is no die-cast model: instead, it is made from tinplate, as were the original Mettoy models of 1934. This Limited Edition features a detailed interior, an operating bell, front wheel steering, and, faithful to the original, a clockwork drive mechanism with key winder.
